Hello!

Thank you for your interest in sponsoring The Herald, Holyoke High School's award-winning and student created school newspaper.

The Herald is published electronically at hhsherald.com, where new content is available daily. Our publication is entirely self-funded, and we depend on the support of generous community members. Your business/organization's ad will appear on our website's main page and your generous assistance will help the journalism program at Holyoke High School continue.

Not only will you get that warm fuzzy feeling from helping a worthwhile program, but your business/organization will get a shout out on our various social media accounts. Our Facebook page ("The Holyoke High Herald") gets hundreds of views daily and our Twitter account (@hhsherald) is a great way to reach the student population of Holyoke High!
